What's New In EssentialPIM?

Information management solution The EssentialPIM application is a fast and simple notetaking utility for Windows that enables you to keep all important information into a single place on your PC: appointments, contacts, emails, passwords, todo lists, notes, etc. For each new entry, you can fill in as many details as possible: for example, when it comes to appointments, you can specify location, start and end time, duration, whether it's exclusive or not, priority, completion status, category, notes, reminders, and repeat mode. Most of these attributes apply to todo lists too. As far as notes are concerned, you can insert pictures, hyperlinks, tables, symbols and horizontal lines. Manage contacts and passwords, export and synchronize data EssentialPIM allows you to build and manage an address book for contacts by indicating personal and business information as well as by attaching any pictures or notes. Furthermore, you can write passwords to wireless network connections, email accounts, Windows logon or anything else, and preserve them in a safe place. As previously mentioned, the software tool lets you password-protect the database to restrict other users' access. Furthermore, it lets you consult a color-coded calendar to easily track down notes and events, synchronize data with Microsoft Outlook to swiftly view emails and send new messages, export information to various profiles (e.g. HTML, iCal, TXT, DOCX, RTF) or synchronize it with Android, iPhone or iPad, and so on. Overall, a resourceful and intuitive organizer EssentialPIM worked smoothly in our tests, without triggering the OS to hang, crash or pop up error messages. It had a good response time and minimal impact on system performance, using low CPU and RAM. For additional features, you can check out the professional edition of the tool, which is not free, called EssentialPIM Pro. Pros: No installation required, simple interface. Can track notes and appointments simultaneously.

Treatment of acute atrial fibrillation using only one cardioversion attempt is associated with a high clinical success rate and low complication rate. Acute atrial fibrillation (AF) is typically treated with one or more attempts at cardioversion. This practice is not known to reduce AF recurrence rates, although it may reduce complication rates. We compared our current AF cardioversion protocol with a less aggressive protocol. Data from the electronic medical record were compared between two similar consecutive patient cohorts: an early era (2005-2009) in which one or more attempts at cardioversion was the standard of care (1st cohort) and a later era (2010-2013) in which only a single cardioversion attempt was made (2nd cohort).
